The accident was caused by extra work train No. 1730 standing on the intersection of the new and old line being "sidetracked" by No. 1732, an extra westbound freight. Engine 1732 was turned over on its side and three cars were derailed. No one was reported injured. The wreckers from Ogden and Carlin were rushed to Death, which is about 100 miles west of Ogden. ## OGDEN RETAIL TRUST

Organized Labor Sends a Letter to the Standard, Endorsing and Supporting the Campaign Against the "Trust"—Railroad Men Declare They Will Not Submit to Present Conditions.

"Ogden, Utah, Nov. 12, 1909.

"To the Ogden Evening Standard:

"Gentlemen—We, as a committee representing the Machinists, Blacksmiths, Boilermakers and employees of the Southern Pacific company in this city, heartily endorse the action taken by the Evening Standard in denouncing the Retail Trust for the manner they have of restraining trade in our city. The Standard can be assured of the moral support of the Southern Pacific employees.

"We believe, and our organization teaches us to, that the home industry, but if the Retail Grocers and others continue their plan of extortion, we will have to withhold our support and patronage. We will take it upon ourselves to establish an agency here and buy our necessities in eastern markets, soon as the holding up for the necessities of life and will pursue the above plan for our own protection as American citizens.

"We believe in competition in business and the right of any man to sell his goods at prices suited to himself, but not at prices dictated to him by the Retail Grocers Trust.

"From a superficial view of the above, by those not familiar with the conditions, the position taken by us may seem inconsistent, owing to the fact that wages in some departments of the railroad shops have been raised recently. Men do not jeopardize their positions and invite all manner of hardships merely to test their organized strength, but, owing to the short time worked during the past two years and the exorbitant prices of necessities, the latter without precedent during times of industrial depression, we were forced to do something. The railroad officials listened to us and kindly granted the increase recently requested, and while appreciating the raise, we are aware of the utter futility of our efforts as long as a few consciousness persons are organized, not only to raise prices of necessities above the means of the worker to buy, but also to use an American means of destroying competition and the inalienable right of the individual.

CANAL WORK SEVEN YEARS HAS BEEN AWARDED IN STATE PRISON

WILLIAM DOYLE TO CONCRETE THE WATERWAY.

Two Miles of Davis & Weber Counties Canal Company's Ditch to be Improved.

The special committee of the Davis and Weber Counties Canal company, having in charge the awarding of contracts for the concreting of the canal, has let a contract for two miles of the concrete work to William Doyle of this city. The contract price amounts to about $50,000, including grading to be done by the company. This two miles of work will be done at points along the canal that are in greatest need of protection. There are places along the water course that in part weather and slip and it is these places that work will be started.

There are now more than twenty teams at work grading the points that are to be concreted, and Mr. Doyle states that his force will be on the ground as fast as he can secure teams and teams. As soon as the two miles of concreting is done, contracts will be let for other portions of the canal, but not until after the irrigation season of next year.

It is said by Manager Bostaph that the contract now let covers the heavier part of the concrete work on the canal and that it will cost considerably more money than any other two miles. It is expected that $400,000 will cover the entire cost of concreting the nine and one-half miles.

J., in connection with the death of Robert Simpson, a professional "subject," who died while in a cataleptic state before a theater audience. To demonstrate what he could do, Everett easily hypnotized the jail keeper, James P. Major, in his cell and the latter declares that Everett could have taken his keys and freed himself from prison. After making the keeper obey several of his commands, while hypnotized, Everett revived him.

PRICE CASE STILL ON IN THE FEDERAL COURT

The hearing in the case of the United States vs. Charles G. Price, who found $2410 at the sub-station of the Ogden postoffice about a year ago, wrapped in a copy of the Desert Evening News, was continued before Judge Page Morris in the federal court in Salt Lake, Friday. The money, it will be remembered, bore Price's address, and it was given to him when he called for his mail.

The trial is to decide the disposition of the money. When Price received it, he deposited it with the Fingree National bank of Ogden. Shortly afterward, however, it was discovered that the East Side Portland bank had been robbed and some of the bills, it was claimed, came from the bank. The case involves the United States, Price and the two banks. Nothing sensational was brought out in the testimony Friday.

ONE HUNDRED MEN ARE WANTED

CONTRACTOR IS IN OGDEN SEEKING LABORERS.

Offers $275 Per Day But is Unable to Secure Men Even at That Scale of Wages.

"I came to Ogden to get one hundred men to ship to Idaho, to do canal work at $2.75 per day. But men are scarce in Ogden than any town I have been in for many weeks."

The above is the statement made this morning at the Pacific hotel by F. R. Gillenbeck of Milner, Idaho. He stated that the enlarging of the big canal on the Twin Falls project is another big undertaking and requiring the services of several hundred men for a number of months this winter. He said the opening of two more tracts of land brought hundreds of homesteaders into the district, meaning the cultivation of a larger acreage and calling for an enlargement of the canals.

Mr. Gillenbeck states that in all his experience in securing men that he has never found such conditions as exist in Ogden and Salt Lake in regard to the scarcity of men. When here in the summer he said he saw large numbers of men in the fields, but then not an idle man is to be found. Everybody in Ogden, he said, holds a job and those who are looking for laborers are hunting men for jobs instead of the men hunting jobs.
